

ITT

Conoflow

Control Pressure to Process Using a Back Pressure Regulator

The HP800 Regulator is used as a relief valve to prevent over pressurization of the process to a control valve or final control element. An additional benefit to this flow bypass loop is that pressure pulses from a positive displacement pump are damped.

